State Bar offers two free educational sessions to reporters in 2025

The State Bar of Wisconsin invites you to take part in our exclusive journalism package called Legal Lens, offering two free Continuing Legal Education (CLE) sessions in 2025. This opportunity is designed to deepen your understanding of critical legal topics and enhance your reporting on complex societal issues.

As part of this package, you'll be able to select two CLE topics in 2025 from hundreds of options. A sampling of upcoming topics include:

- Forensic Justice Institute 2025: Discover cutting-edge forensic science techniques and their impact on criminal justice outcomes. (Webcast, monthly dates from Jan. 24 to Nov. 18, 2025.)
- Immigrants in Family Court: The Intersection of Immigration and Family Law: Gain insights into immigration policy and its intersection with family law. (Jan. 30, in-person or webcast.)
- Elder Financial Exploitation 2025: Learn legal strategies to protect vulnerable individuals from fraud and abuse. (In-person/webcast on Jan. 10, with additional webcasts Jan. 17–Feb. 28.)
- Winter Recreation Injuries: The Black Diamond of PI Cases: Explore liability and negligence challenges unique to winter sports injuries. (Available OnDemand.)

Sessions are available in-person, live webcast, or OnDemand, offering flexibility to fit your schedule. Our spring, summer and fall CLEs are still being finalized, so check our website (marketplace.wisbar.org) for additional options.

Space is limited, so don't miss this opportunity to expand your expertise and connect with legal professionals. To reserve your spot or learn more, contact Mike Wiltse. We look forward to supporting your commitment to informed and impactful journalism.
